Plane Crash Kills Pilot

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Dr. George T. Carr, 41, of Ferguson, Mo., was injured fatally when his Piper Cub airplane crashed onto the edge of the road bordering Horseshoe Lake at 8 p.m. yesterday.

The site is four-tenths of a mile southeast of State Route 162.

Dr. Carr, a dermatologist who maintained offices at Ferguson and Belleville, kept his airplane, which was equipped with pontoons, on the lake. He had a private pilot license and flew often from St. Louis County to the lake.

Eyewitnesses to the crash said the airplane came from the north at about 500 or 600 feet altitude, dropped rapidly and went into a counter-clockwise spin before striking the ground.

Terry Brookman and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gillison, all of Edwardsville, said they were fishing nearby when Mrs. Gillison called their attention to an airplane flying erratically.

Propeller Not Turning

"We noticed that the propeller was straight up and down and was not turning," Brookman told the Press-Record.

"The plane dipped to the left, righted and then dipped to the right," he said.

"When it was almost directly over the spot where it crashed, it went into a spin and came straight down. We watched it disappear and heard a thud," Brookman said.

He added that he and his friends drove in their auto to the scene, arriving about 45 seconds after the crash.

"The pilot was unconscious and was lying on the seat of the airplane. I didn't hear him make a sound," Brookman reported.

Other witnesses told state troopers on the scene that he moved for three minutes after the crash and may have made some sounds.

Dr. Carr was removed from the airplane and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was pronounced dead upon arrival at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen Summoned

Long Lake volunteer firemen were called to the scene to guard against the threat of fire. Fire Chief Jack Harper reported there was only a small amount of gasoline on the ground.

Bill Nichols, president of the Horseshoe Lake Landowners' Association, said he was at the scene.

$690,000 Elevator Fire Loss

Damage from a fire inside a silo at the Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. grain elevator on Carle Road at 4:30 p.m. Friday could be as high as $690,000, according to Long Lake volunteer firemen who extinguished the smoldering blaze.

The silo was filled with 460,000 bushels of wheat which is valued at about $1.50 per bushel. Firemen said they believed part of the wheat in the silo touched light bulbs in the top of the structure, starting the fire.

Firemen had to climb ladders at the side of the silo and pour water onto the wheat while clinging to the building at a height of 60 or 70 feet, Jack Harper, fire chief, reported.

He said rods were inserted to a depth of six or seven feet into the wheat, and water was

Diamond Rings Taken From Hudson Jewelers

Two men and a woman stole a case containing eight diamond rings from Hudson Jewelers in Belleme Shopping Center at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Virgil Hudson, owner, told police the trio entered the store and two of them talked to clerks while a man apparently lifted the glass from the top of a display case in the middle of the store and stole the small case containing the rings. The two men then left the store and the woman followed a few moments later.

Hudson noticed the rings were missing and chased the woman, he said. He and an employee stopped the woman in front of Reese Drug Store in the shopping center but she escaped and ran to the rear of the store, he reported.

She entered a car with two men at the rear of the store and they drove to Johnson Road and eastbound, Hudson told police.

East-West Okays Bid For $7 Million State, Federal Sewer Grants

The board of directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has endorsed applications by Madison County for funds totaling $7,023,910 to help finance construction of a sanitary sewer system in Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau townships. It was announced Friday.

The council's endorsement was given to applications for $3,167,283 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, $2,636,925 from the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, and $1,199,602 from the state of Illinois.

Total estimated cost of the project is $12,927,250. Meanwhile, detailed construction plans for the four-township sewer program are being prepared by Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab and should be ready for financing procedures early next year, according to Edward Jumeau of the engineering firm.

Among Improvements

The improvements include: 1. An interceptor line connecting the Mitchell area with the Granite City sewage treatment plant.

2. An interceptor connecting areas on the north and east sides of the city of Granite City, the village of Pontoon Beach and the Stallings area with the interceptor that serves the Mitchell area.

3. Collector sewers with an outlet into the proposed interceptor.

4. Collector sewers to serve the W. R. Benjamin area with an outlet to the Granite City sewers.

5. Collector sewers to serve East Madison, Cloverleaf and Eagle Park areas with an outlet to the Madison system.

6. Collector sewers to serve the State Park Place area and the area east of Route 111 with outlet into the city of Collinsville system.

The program, designated as the Interim Water Quality Management Plan for the Granite City Intensive Study Area, was approved earlier this year by the Gateway Council which favored the plan over one proposed by the city of Granite City in which it would build the

High-Speed Chase Ends In Mishap

A high-speed chase by state troopers of a motorist along Interstate 270 ended in a three-car accident in which three persons were injured at 11:35 p.m. Thursday on Route 111, 50 yards south of Highway 162.

State police headquarters reported that a highway patrol car chased Michael C. Jackson, 24, of 33D Jeanette Drive, in an easterly direction on the interstate when he turned south on Route 111, still at a high rate of speed, reached the intersection of Route 162, swerved to the right side of a stopped car, ran a stop sign and lost control.

His auto struck the oncoming car of Gary M. Marsala, 191 Jones Park Drive, and glanced off to collide head-on with another driven by Michael Gent, 24, of 4662 Sara St.

Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital were Jackson, Gent and Kathy Gent, 23, who was transferred to Jewish Hospital, St. Louis.

She complained of pains in the face and ankle and cuts to the right forearm. The ankle was fractured. Gent was admitted here following x-rays of the skull, chest and right knee. Jackson was admitted with pains to the chest and lower abdomen after x-rays were taken of the skull, spine, knees and face.

Alternate Plan - Key To Dobrey Drainage?

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Renewed efforts to obtain state cooperation in an alternate plan to drain the Dobrey Slough area in Nameoki township have been initiated in a series of developments reported today.

Those developments were: 1. Mayor Donald Partney said he talked with officials of the Illinois Division of Waterways late last week in the first step to arrange a meeting with division engineers and John Guillou, director of the waterways division, to reconsider an alternate plan devised by the mayor.

2. A group of residents of the Dobrey area began circulating two separate sets of petitions, one asking Madison County to contribute to the cost of the alternate plan, and the other requesting that Nameoki township also share in the cost.

3. A committee of six persons named in a meeting of Nameoki residents several weeks ago will attend a meeting of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District board of trustees Wednesday to ask that the levee district cooperate in development of the alternate plan and urge the division of waterways to do the same.

Provides New Route

The so-called alternate plan — developed by Mayor Partney after a proposed drainage improvement planned by the waterways division became stalled for lack of right-of-way, provides a new route for construction of a drainage canal from Dobrey Slough southward to Horseshoe Lake.

The route would parallel the Alton and Southern right-of-way and would bypass three parcels of property needed for the original plan prepared by the waterways division.

Mayor Partney said he has obtained all of the easements necessary to the Dobrey drainage canal that he proposes be built. The plan favored by Guillou, however, is held up because owners of three parcels of land through which the canal would extend have refused to grant easements.

The levee district has filed condemnation proceedings but court action has been time-consuming in a series of motions, hearings and appeals.

Partney presented his plan and assurances of all easements — to Guillou during a meeting at Springfield late in May attended by other city officials, State Sen. Sam Vadala-bene (D - Edwardsville) and State Rep. Robert J. Walters (R-Alton).

At that time, Partney was told the state would consider his proposal, with a decision to be announced later.

Allocation Increased

During the meeting of Nameoki residents Senator Vadala-bene announced he had received a letter from Guillou in which the state would increase its allocation of funds for the project.

Dan Walker to Visit Nameoki Town Meet

Dan Walker, Democratic candidate for governor, will bring his campaign to this area next week in a personal appearance at the regular meeting of the Nameoki Town Board.

Walker, according to Louis Whitsett, Nameoki township supervisor, will listen to problems of the area and answer questions of area residents.

The regular town board meeting is to convene at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 14, followed by the candidate's arrival about 8:30 p.m.

Because of Walker's request to appear at the meeting, Whitsett said he has written Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, seeking re-election on the GOP ticket, inviting him to appear also at any of the town meetings.

Whitsett said that persons seeking answers to questions from Walker should submit them in advance by phone or mail to give the candidate time to research them. Advance questions may be mailed to the Nameoki Township Office, 420 Highway 162, or phoned to the township office at 931-1230, Whitsett said.

Representatives of the Illinois State Department of Conservation will be in the Quad-City area this week to meet with the owners of property that is to become part of the proposed $4 million Horseshoe Lake State Park.

Bob Corrigan, chief of the land acquisition division of the conservation department, said Friday that two representatives of his division would begin talks today with the owners of 199 parcels of land along and near the lake to make plans for purchase of the land by the state.

The parcels cover 3,020 acres of the total 3,100 acres the park is expected to include. As of Friday, 80 acres had been purchased for the park at a cost of about $400,000 Corrigan said.

Under revised plans, the park will include land on the north, south and east sides of the lake and the south edge will link with the present Cahokia Mounds State Park on Route 40 near Collinsville. The west side of the lake is owned by Granite City Steel Co., he reported.

Corrigan said that appraising work is complete on all of the land, and title searches and plat work have been completed except for minor revisions.

He said he expects purchasing of most of the unimproved lots to be completed by the end of the year.

Arrest Follows Robbery-Kidnap

An armed robber took $200 to $250 from Frank's Clark Service Station, attempted to shoot an attendant, commandeered a car, occupied by three girls and was arrested in the area of Kirkpatrick Homes, it was reported at 1:05 a.m. Friday.

Frank Bausch, station proprietor, and police said the man walked into the station, pulled a loaded .38-caliber automatic and announced the hold-up.

Bausch said the man pointed the gun at the chest of his employee, Lloyd Allen, and pulled the trigger, but the gun failed to fire.

Authorities said he abducted three girls who had pulled into the service station and forced them to take him to the area of the housing project where he left at Pershing Avenue and Nameoki Road.

The girls then returned to the station, where police had arrived, and reported their experience. Bausch said he then drove to the Kirkpatrick area and spotted the man who was arrested by police on the street. Officers at the scene were George Gallus, Ralph Farney and Leo Willis.

Charged with armed robbery is Jack W. Robert, 36, of 2741 Birch Ave. Police said he admitted the crime. The money was recovered. The girls were unharmed.

Project to Move
"We realize we have been a bit slow on this project in the past, but I can assure you this project has considerable priority now and we are moving," he said.

The department of conservation representatives here this week will be advising owners and occupants of the land to be purchased of the process for acquisition by the state, and of relocation assistance available to them under the federal property owners uniform relocation and assistance act, Corrigan said.

Under the act, occupants of the land may be eligible for a $200 relocation allowance and funds are available to cover certain moving costs.

Corrigan also indicated that purchase of the island in the lake will be given priority and it is hoped that some improvements may be made for the island by next summer which would make it a usable recreation area.

Plan GC Alcoholism Center: $33,445 Grant from State

The newly formed Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency has been awarded a grant of $33,445 for the fiscal year beginning in July. The Council has just been informed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. The Council originally sought $40,000 as a "seed grant" and will raise the balance of the required budget.

Wood said a drive for the additional $15,000 will begin as soon as an executive director is selected. The funds would come from industry, retail businesses, organizations, churches and private individuals, he said.

Other officers of the council beside Wood are Joe Howard, vice-president, Manford Ruby, treasurer, Sharon Joiner, recording secretary, and Rev. J. W. Jordan, corresponding secretary.

The council covers Madison, Bond and Clinton counties. It meets the second Wednesday of each month at the Tri-Cor Medical Building, Granite City. The public is invited to attend the regular meetings, Wood said.

GC Council to Get Mail Bond Ordinance Soon

Ordinances authorizing the sale of special assessment bonds for construction of the proposed downtown Granite City Mail will be presented to the city council soon, probably in its Aug. 24 meeting. It was decided in a meeting of the city council on the bond and mail improvements Friday night.

William Brandt, special attorney for the mail project, said the board members authorized only one change in original plans for financing by increasing the amortization period of the bond issue from ten to 15 years. The Board Friday night also informally discussed objections filed against the project by two property owners, Brandt said.

The meeting was the first in more than two months and was called by Mayor Donald Partney to clear the way for city council action on the bond and mail improvements and other legal procedure.

After the council acts, the Board of Local Improvements will file a petition in circuit court at Edwardsville asking for court sanction of the project and approval of the special assessment financing system.

Injured Girl, 16, Found Near Accident

Vicki Van Fleet, 16, of 1606 Kirkpatrick Homes, was found unconscious lying on the side of the road near an auto accident at Namekiki Drive and Sinclair Avenue at 1:45 a.m. yesterday. Police said they have been unable to determine if she was involved in the accident.

Charles F. Valle, 4601 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with reckless driving after his auto struck and knocked down a utility pole at the intersection. Valle said the girl was not in his car and that she was not involved with the accident.

The girl was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 2:35 a.m. yesterday, still unconscious. She reportedly suffered multiple scratches and bruises, and indications of a chest injury were noted by doctors.

GC Couple Injured, Auto Strikes Train

Herman Chadwick, 61, of 2657 E. 24th St., and his wife, Eugenia, were injured when their auto struck a train at the railroad crossing on Route 162 near E. 23rd Street at 11:40 p.m. Saturday.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with pains in the chest and forehead and were released following x-rays to the skull and ribs.

forming him that the General Assembly had renewed the appropriation for the state-sponsored Doherty Slough program and that the state's contribution had been increased from the original $10,000 grant to $150,000.

At the same time, however, the letter, which Vadablene read to the meeting, said:

"Our present plan is proceeded with the construction of the project which we have designed. This work will be undertaken just as soon as the East Side Levee and Sanitary District can deliver the necessary rights of way in accord with their agreement with the state of Illinois."

Guillou left open, however, the question of an alternate plan, informing the senator that "In the event an alternate plan is developed which would equally serve the Doherty Slough project needs we would be able to contribute the entire $150,000 for that work."

Partney's proposed plan would cost approximately $80,000 more than the total amount of funds now available for the drainage improvement.

Interceptor lines to hook up with the township council sewers. Given Priority

The program also was favored by state and federal officials over two others advanced as alternate plans by sponsors of the four-township sewer development program.

It will provide sewer service to the Benjamin Addition, Mitchell, Ponton Beach, Sallings, East Madison, Cloverleaf Addition, Eagle Park Acres and State Park Place.

It also would provide sewer service to the Bi-State Development Agency and the Tri-City Regional Port Authority for their district harbor facilities on the Granite City waterfront, as well as potential industrial parks in areas east of the port district and Chain of Rocks canal.

The Gateway council's board also endorsed an application by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission for a federal grant of $205,000.

The project involves five areas of service provided in communities of Madison County including neighborhood service centers for recreational and cultural purposes, a youth development program, provision of day care facilities, provision and administration of rural or out-county service centers and transportation services to provide a larger segment of the poor with more efficient transportation.

Over

50,000 Drivers Fail

Last year alone, over 50,000 Illinois licensed drivers failed the state written examination. This year the number of drivers that will fail could jump to a hundred thousand or more. Experts say — "One reason is, that rules and regulations change, and even some good safe drivers just don't keep up with the new laws." If your license expires this year, you may be among the hundreds of thousands that will be re-examined in 1972. So if you're nervous about taking the state written exam, here's good news. You can now purchase your own "self-scoring" test papers, complete with questions, answers and road signs you should know for that important examination day. Labor Leaders At Springfield Support Ogilvie

Nine prominent Springfield area labor leaders have endorsed Governor Richard B. Ogilvie for re-election. They represent unions which make up more than 80% of the organized labor (non-government) force in the Springfield area.

Announcement of the action was made by Mike Marada, business representative of Sheetmetal Workers Local 84 and Charles W. Simpson, financial secretary of Laborers Local 477. They will head up a Labor for Ogilvie Committee in the Springfield and central Illinois area.

Joining Marada and Simpson in the endorsement of Ogilvie were business representatives of the following labor organizations: Marcell Sheperd, Electrical Workers Local 103; Guy Long, Teamsters Local 3916; Roger Buecker and William McKenna, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 137; Tony Mocer, Boilermakers Local 363; Fred Altman, Operating Engineers Local 983 and Russell Schroeder, Ironworkers Local 46.

The group issued the following statement: "Governor Ogilvie is far and away the most qualified candidate for the office. His record as it relates to the working men and women of Illinois is one of the best ever."

"Benefits increased. 'During his administration, the state's first minimum wage law was enacted, unemployment compensation benefits were increased and extended to a half-million more persons and workmen's compensation benefits were substantially increased."

"Under his leadership other reforms have been achieved, including reasonable and responsible reform of the state's tax structure. 'Furthermore, his opposition to a graduated state income tax is, in reality, a victory for working men and women. His opponent, Daniel Walker, supports a graduated or progressive state income tax that would result in higher taxes for union members and their families in this state."

Command Governor "As representatives of organized labor we commend Governor Ogilvie for his outstanding public works program and his opposition to diversion of major fuel taxes for uses other than transportation. His opponent's plan to use these monies for other purposes would wreck the highway program undertaken by the Ogilvie administration."

"Governor Ogilvie has been a good governor. He has worked hard to make Illinois a better state for all of its people. This committee intends to work hard to insure his reelection."

Some Higher Paychecks Due Later in Month

Granite City Steel Co. officials announced Friday that pay increases will not appear on paychecks for some employees until later this month, but are effective from Aug. 1.

The raises were guaranteed for steelworkers at the plant as their three year contract with the company reached the end of its first year on Aug. 1. The contract provides for yearly increases.

The company is granting similar increases to the International Chemical Workers Union and other unions representing plant guards, blacksmiths, mill carriers and brick layers.

The Steelworkers contract provides for a general wage increase of 12.5 cents per hour plus increases in the increments between job classes; a quarterly cost-of-living allowance adjustment beginning Aug. 1, with a 12 1/2 cent-an-hour guaranteed minimum on Aug. 1, 1973; an extra paid holiday and pension improvements.

Approximately 3,700 union employees are affected by the raises. Checks for the first half of August will be paid during a payday later in the month, officials said.

Madison County Receives Recovered Book Funds

Attorney General William J. Scott has turned over to Madison County schools a new recovery of $16,195.88 from an antitrust price-fixing case involving children's school books purchased by the district.

Scott noted that Madison County schools earlier received $13,099.20, boosting the recovery to date to $29,295.

He said the latest recovery for the schools is part of a distribution to more than 750 school districts throughout the state, affecting an enrollment of 1,710,233 school children. Total recoveries to date are $889,100.

A third distribution of approximately $250,000 is expected in January of 1973, putting the total at more than $1.1 million.

Basically, Scott said, the cash repayments stem from an antitrust suit filed against major book publishers and distributors, charging price fixing in the sale of children's library editions to the various school districts.

Prices Fixed

The suit alleged that the prices of the books were fixed at high, artificial and non-competitive levels, which caused purchasers to pay higher prices than they would have ordinarily paid in a freely competitive market.

The "class action" suit was specifically designed to allow all Illinois school districts which had purchased books from the publishers to join in the Attorney General's lawsuit, at no cost to the schools.

Attorney General Scott commented: "At a time when the need for school funds is so great, these recoveries are all the more meaningful."

"I think our lawsuit also carries a very loud message for those who attempt to manipulate prices in Illinois. I think it is a powerful deterrent against future such abuses."

Nomination of Judges Ruled Unconstitutional by Scott

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has ruled unconstitutional the bill passed in the last state legislative session that would permit nomination of judges by political convention or by partisan political committees.

In response to a request July 18, by Governor Ogilvie for an Attorney General's opinion on the bill's constitutionality, Scott said the new 1970 Illinois Constitution authorizes nomination of judges only by primary election or petition.

"Judges are not to be nominated by party conventions. Filling vacancies in nomination by party committees is comparable to nomination by convention, and also prohibited," Scott held.

Party Nominations
Scott pointed out that a section of the bill in question would permit nomination of judges 90 days prior to the general election. Since this date would occur after the primary election, the remaining machinery for nomination would be party conventions or party committees.

"The sole purpose of that provision is to allow partisan political committees to name the party candidates for judicial office at the election on November 7, 1972."

"While that purpose is not explicitly stated on the face of the bill, it is implicit under the circumstances existing at the time the bill was introduced and passed by the General Assembly. I have previously held that effacement of that purpose is unconstitutional," Scott said.

In the earlier Attorney General's opinion, delivered to State Sen. W. Russell Arrington, May 11, 1972, Attorney General Scott pointed out that the provisions of the old 1870 Illinois Constitution which permitted judicial nominations by party conventions were specifically deleted from the 1970 constitution.

"Note the deletion of 'party conventions' and the addition of 'by petition,'" Scott's May 11 opinion stressed.

"The change in language indicates that the Constitutional Convention intended to prohibit further use of the party convention to nominate judges. The convention debates substantiate this opinion."

Sen. Arrington had inquired whether judicial vacancies occurring after the March 1972 primary election could be filled, and if so, by what method.

Scott responded that there is no constitutional method for judicial nomination after the primary, and that the only method of filling such vacancies before 1974 under the new Constitution would be by appointment by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Lewis-Clark Students To Get Dental Course

Faculty at the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine will teach a course this fall on the University's Alton campus for students enrolled in the dental assistants program at Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey.

Dr. Naseeb Shory, assistant to the dean for planning and development, said the Lewis and Clark students will be brought to the dental school twice a week for a course in dental biology. The course will be initiated with the start of the Lewis and Clark fall quarter Aug. 28.

"This course is part of the interinstitutional cooperation being encouraged by the Illinois Board of Higher Education," Shory said. "We'll be using our facilities at SIUE to enhance the junior college's program."

Shory said the course is being planned by dental school professors Richard Coy and R. Dale Smith in conjunction with Eleanor Wyde, head of the dental assistants program at Lewis and Clark.

Additional cooperative courses are being planned for next year, Shory said, including one in preventive dentistry.

City Trash Collection Plan Challenged

Granite City's plan to pick up a program of trash pickups in which the street department is using two surplus civil defense trucks, manned by workers provided by the Madison County Emergency Employment program. First collections began in the West Granite area.

Referring to the city's program of making additional trash pickups made necessary by the open burning ban, Leiner told the council that Milan East Corp. which holds the city sanitation contract for garbage collection will no longer be able to follow a "liberal policy" in making regular pickups under the contract.

Leiner noted that Milan East "has gone along with the city and picked up refuse in excess of the 60-gallon limit per household," and said that "if the city is going to operate in competition to us, then we will have to go back to the strict terms of the contract."

Urges Contract Be Let
Leiner asked the council to reconsider its city-operated system of trash pickups and award a contract on the basis of bids received for such work in mid-July.

He explained that Milan's contract with the city calls for the company to supply the city with dumping space for the street department and the sewer department and to pick up no more than 60 gallons of trash a week per household.

The company trucks have been picking up three times that much without any additional cost to the city.

Leiner said that policy will have to stop if the city continues collections under the present plan.

"Our landfill is not to be used by our competitors, and if the city is to make trash pickups, it will be operating in competition to us," he said.

In a move to solve the dilemma of large quantities of tree limbs, brush, waste paper and grass cuttings that no longer can be burned, and therefore must be picked up, the council advertised for bids in early July.

Four bids, the amounts of which have not been disclosed, were received by the council's Sanitation Committee headed by Alderman William Dallas. Milan Corp. East was among the bidders.

Instead of awarding a contract, the council agreed to a suggestion by Dallas that the city-operated program urged by Mayor Donald Partney be given a trial. Partney insisted the program operated by the city would save considerable money. The council approved the idea — on a trial basis — in its July 24 meeting.

Arrangements to initiate the pickup service were followed by a warning by the mayor that arrests for violation of the open burning ban would become effective Aug. 1 on the same day the new trash pickups were begun.

Dual Victory Crown Returns To Spalding at Tri-City Race

Wib Spalding of Ponton Beach had his super-sprint car racing crown returned Friday night as he handily won that feature race, topped off by his seventh consecutive late model stock car feature victory.

The race two weeks earlier, halted a streak for Spalding in which he claimed victories in both features four consecutive weeks. The man responsible for breaking that streak, Jerry Camfield of Argenta, winner of the sprint feature July 21, was unable to compete Friday night as crews began preparing his car for another week-end race. Rain forced cancellation of the July 28 program.

Spalding still had trouble with the Camfield family, as Jerry's younger brother, David Camfield, took an early lead in the sprint feature event and held the No. 1 spot through the 12th lap of the 20-lap race, despite persistent pressure from Spalding who was only inches behind.

On the 13th lap, Spalding found room to pass and took over the lead. Camfield finished second and Ron Melton of Jacksonville and Ollie Runion of Decatur crossed the finish line at exactly the same time to tie for third. Dennis Spencer of Alton was fifth.

The race had to be restarted after the sprinter of Tom Coleman of Columbia, Mo., slid sideways in the first turn of the first lap and the car of Tom Rushing of St. Louis spun to avoid an accident.

Spalding was untouchable in the late models as he led all the way for his 10th late model victory in 13 races this season. His closest competition came from Bobby Minor of St. Louis who came within passing distance several times but never made a serious attempt for the lead.

Myers Losenge of Rosewood Heights, a former feature winner this season, held the third position through the eighth lap but his engine again blew a head gasket and he was forced out of competition. Bobby Stanton of Alton, who held the fifth position through the 14th lap, also was plagued by engine problems and pulled into the pits.

Minor finished second, trailed by Ken Lowe of Florissant, Mo., Joe Northrup of Jacksonville and Glen Sühling of Granite City. Spalding earned the fastest sprint time-trial with a half-mile lap of 23.42 seconds. Camfield was second and Ron Boehr of Florissant, Mo., was third.

Spalding won the trophy dash with Cliff Powell of Quincy, Camfield and Boehr finishing second third and fourth.

Spalding won the trophy dash with Cliff Powell of Quincy, Camfield and Boehr finishing second third and fourth.

Taylor Wins Heat

Ron Taylor of St. Louis won the first super-sprint heat event with Runion, Spalding and Boehr trailing.

In the second heat, Jim Mouchon of Springfield, Ill., led all the way but his sprinter's engine blew in the final turn and he coasted across the finish line for the win.

Rushing was second, trailed by Coleman and rookie Larry Dieterman of Edwardsville. Camfield was victorious in the third sprint heat with Bo-her, Powell and Danny Denton of Crystal City, Mo., following.

Jansen Fastest
Louie Jansen of Bethalto turned in the fastest late model qualifying lap of the evening in 28.43 seconds, a new track record. Spalding was second and Myers and Ryder qualified third and fourth.

Jansen ran well in the first heat but his late model blew its engine in the fifth lap and Spalding went on for the victory. Miner was second with Myers finishing third.

Sühling won the second heat, the first victory this season for the Granite City driver. Ed Lewis of St. Louis led the first lap but struck the outside wall in the fourth turn and Sühling moved into the lead. Don Carter of Hillsboro was second and Pat King of St. Louis and Northrup followed the leaders.

Taylor Victorious
Chuck Taylor of Rosewood Heights, former USAC sprint car driver, moved into the car normally driven by Bob Whitehead of Roxana and led all the way to victory in the third heat.

Lowe, Bobby Stanton of Alton and Howard Ryder of Alton trailed Taylor across the finish line.

The event came under the yellow flag one time as the late model of Bill Lamb of Wood River went out of control and careened over the outside retaining wall in the first turn of the third lap. He escaped injury.

Track promoters announced that a special 100-lap event for late models will be held Friday, Aug. 25, with a $2,000 purse. Officials also are negotiating with midwest drivers for a special triple-header event, sprints, midwests and late models, to close the season Sept. 1.

The regular weekly racing programs will be held next Friday and on Friday, Aug. 25. Time-trials will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the first races at 8:30 p.m.

Park Golf Meet Set This Week

The registration deadline for the second annual Granite City Park District golf tournament will be on Friday at the park office.

Qualifying rounds will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Arlington Heights Golf Course. Survivors of the qualifying rounds will compete in the finals Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12-13. An entry fee of $10 will cover all green costs.

Apartment Complex

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended denial of a request by Lloyd Mouser, to rezone five acres north of the Arlington Heights subdivision from agricultural to residential use for development of an apartment complex.

More than 125 residents of Arlington Heights signed a petition opposing the plans and some were on hand to voice their protests at an on-site public hearing last week. They felt the apartment complex would hurt the value of their properties, the board was told.

They cited problems in water supply, sewer and drainage facilities as obstacles to more development in the area.

The zoning board decided that Mouser failed to prove his case, according to Jack Clifford, county zoning official. Mouser planned to erect 24 four-unit apartment buildings on the tract, similar to those on Jeanette Drive.

Attempted Extortion At Kroger Store Fails

An attempted extortion at Kroger Food Store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center failed Saturday as company officials refused to comply with the wishes of a telephone caller who threatened to have the store blown up.

Tom Wertz, manager of the store, said a man telephoned him at 1:10 p.m. Saturday and in a soft tone of voice said, "Don't get alarmed but there is a man in the store now with a bomb. You can see him right now."

"Get all of the money from the office and deliver it to Tri-Mor (Bowl) and the man will leave," the caller reportedly said. He then hung up the telephone, Wertz said.

The manager told police he then announced to shoppers in the store that there had been a bomb threat and most shoppers left until after a police search of the store had been made. No bomb was found. Police detectives are investigating the incident.

John Mejaski, 56, Dies While at Work

John Mejaski, 56, of 1231 Washington Ave., Madison, a Madison street department employee and former bridge toll collector, died suddenly while working for that city at 1:25 p.m. Friday.

Mejaski was working on a street department truck with the driver, Joe Macko, and another worker, Tony Coin. They were collecting trash in an alley near McCambridge Avenue when Mejaski lifted a heavy piece of metal onto the truck and complained that he injured his shoulder, according to his co-workers.

Coin picked up the rest of the trash in the alley while Mejaski reportedly walked beside the truck, attempting to recover from what he said felt like a pulled muscle.

When the alley had been cleaned, Coin and Mejaski joined Macko in the cab of the truck and they drove west on Seventh Street to Madison Avenue, it was reported.

At that location, Mejaski suddenly began shaking and gasping for air, the other two men said. Macko ran to a nearby funeral home and called for Madison police, and a Madison Fire Department inhalator unit, while Coin administered first aid.

When police and firemen arrived they could find no signs of life, they said.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Stephanie Mejaski; two sons, Stephen and John Michael Mejaski of Madison; a daughter, Mrs. Day (Barbara) Fors of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Barbara Mejaski of Madison; two brothers, Mike and Emil Mejaski of Madison; two sisters, Mrs. John (Olga) Billick and Mrs. Gerald (Mildred) Zarr of Madison; and one grandchild.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

"No one can do a good job if they don't know what is expected of them. Officers of an organization shouldn't ask anyone to do anything they aren't willing to do themselves," the speaker added.

Mrs. Robert Brave, Granite City, president of the county HEA, presided at the meeting. She opened the general session by introducing county council members and past county presidents to the 100 officers present.

After the general session, officers met in groups to receive instructions and information for the coming year. Unit chairmen were trained by Mrs. Brave; first vice-chairmen by Mrs. William Flanagan of Troy; Mrs. James Early of New Douglas spoke to the secretaries, and public information chairmen were instructed by Mrs. Leslie Coulson and Mrs. Sally Jo Burton of Collinsville.

Discrimination Charge Denied by SW Bell

Progress in employing and advancing women and minorities has been good and will be even better in the future, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said Friday in testimony filed with the Federal Communications Commission.

The testimony, along with similar filings by AT&T and other Bell System operating companies, was presented to the FCC to refute charges by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) of discriminatory employment practices.

"Contrary to the EEOC's contention of 'pervasive and blatantly unlawful discrimination employment,' the results and established employment trend show aggressive and sincere affirmative efforts on the part of persons throughout Southwestern Bell," said Budd Reinhold, the company's personnel vice president and witness in the filing.

He added the company "recognizes the need for full equal employment opportunity for females and minorities as a potent force in the decisions made in managing the business."

Norman Gassley, vice president and general manager in St. Louis, said the number of minority group members on Southwestern Bell's payroll was less than one-sixth of present levels in 1964, when Title VII of the Civil Rights Act became law.

"The company's minority employment has increased from less than 3 per cent in 1965 to more than 12½ in 1971," Gassley said.

"And minority management employees increased from 9 in 1965 to 366 by the end of 1971."

Hearings End on Critical Note for Illinois Site

Joseph L. Badaracco, president of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen, Thursday criticized the St. Louis Airport Commission for what he said was failure to properly improve Lambert-St. Louis International Airport, causing the present airport crisis.

Badaracco's comments were delivered during the final session of three-day hearings on a new airport held by the Federal Aviation Administration at the Marriott Motor Hotel across from Lambert Field.

The hearings were held to determine if the FAA should approve an application for land acquisition funds and air space clearance for a major airport at Columbia-Waterloo in Illinois.

Badaracco formerly supported the Illinois location but reversed his stand when he entered the race for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Missouri.

He charged the airport commission with being rames in making necessary expansions and improvements to the field and for "developing inflated traffic projections" to show Lambert's inadequacy for the future.

Funds Earmarked

He said that $150 million was earmarked for Lambert improvements in 1968 and since that time only about $12 was used, "and almost all of that went for one project—the garage."

He said the funds should have been used for the purchase of land "when it was vacant and hence cheaper," for lengthening an existing parallel runway and for permitting the main runway to deteriorate to the point where pilots now "cross their fingers" when landing at Lambert.

He also said an instrument landing system was installed at only one end of the airport's longest runway, not at both ends.

Also speaking at Thursday's hearing was Missouri Lt. Gov. William Morris who asked that the FAA withhold any decision on a proposal for an Illinois site for a new airport until after Missouri voters had had an opportunity to express their opinions in a November referendum.

Morris said he felt that no conclusive technical evidence has been presented either supporting an Illinois site or showing that a new airport is necessary.

The hearing centered last week on objections from residents of the Columbia-Waterloo-

Millsdale area, including that of Mrs. Evelyn Voelker, a full-blooded Comanche Indian who said she was appearing on behalf of "the people who are not important to anyone except their families."

She said that Indian tradition warns, "When you carve the land, you draw blood from the people. I want to do what little I can in keeping the land from bleeding."

John Cyrocki, FAA regional director from Kansas City who is conducting the hearing, afterwards complimented Mrs. Voelker for lending color and humble dignity to the hearing. Others who spoke against the Illinois site included Woodrow Balz of Millsdale, representing HUSTLE (Help Us Save the Land and Environment); Jack Norman of the Columbia Plan Commission; Walter Wetzel and Malvin Avara, 15, of Waterloo, who said he spoke on behalf of "future farmers."

Opposition also was voiced by Edwin J. Putzell Jr., vice-president and general counsel of Monsanto Co., and Dick N. Dalton, assistant vice-president in charge of administration for Emerson Electric Co. Both favored expansion of Lambert-St. Louis International Airport.

Later, Arvin H. Saunders, executive director of the Illinois airport authority, charged the companies with being "more concerned about their corporate health than the health of the community."

Saunders said the companies "should be concerned with the welfare of the 3,000,000 people here" rather than in their expense ledgers.

Also heard at last week's hearings was St. Louis Alderman John J. Pityk Jr., of the 27th Ward who said "My people want the airport to stay where it is."

He also said an instrument landing system was installed at only one end of the airport's longest runway, not at both ends.

Also speaking at Thursday's hearing was Missouri Lt. Gov. William Morris who asked that the FAA withhold any decision on a proposal for an Illinois site for a new airport until after Missouri voters had had an opportunity to express their opinions in a November referendum.

Morris said he felt that no conclusive technical evidence has been presented either supporting an Illinois site or showing that a new airport is necessary.

The scale runs to a maximum of 75% of the salary for the last 12 months of service.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for a minor cut to his mouth and was returned to the Madison Jail. At 7:30 p.m., Smith was reported to have struck a street sign at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue in Madison, causing extensive damage to the car.

Fiber Glass House Gets Testing by HUD

By FRANK MACOMBER

Copley News Service

New homeowners often complain their houses were so plain they begin to leak with the first rains, settle on their foundations so quickly that cracks appear in the plaster and doors and windows don't shut snugly.

Well, engineers and technicians at the Naval Civil Engineering Laboratory (NCEL), Port Hueneme, Calif., are trying to do something about this. They are conducting tests on a modular house developed by Materials Systems Corp., one of 22 firms authorized by HUD to develop new designs and materials for mass housing.

The entire structure is made of fiber glass. Only the floor is wood. The roof, outer walls and partitions are fabricated from fiber glass skins bonded to a corrugated fiber glass inner core.

For insulation against weather and fire, spaces inside the core are packed with a fibrous material and the skins are treated with a special protective coating, Keenan explains. The NCEL tests are aimed at a typical single-family, two-story house made of two modules, each 20 feet long, 12 feet wide and nine feet high.

The fiber glass concept, Keenan points out, envisions stacking of modules side by side or on top of each other in a variety of arrangements to accommodate single and multiple-family housing.

Keenan says a series of hydraulic ramps, exerts horizontal forces on the house to simulate wind and earthquake impact. Tons of water are poured on the roof and floors. What happens to the fiber glass house during and after these assaults is being evaluated by NCEL experts.

Either the fiber glass house or concepts offered by 21 other firms could lead someday to homes without leaky roofs, cracking walls and stubborn whetland.

CONDUCT TESTS

William A. Keenan, a senior research structural engineer at NCEL, says the tests are being conducted on a modular house developed by Materials Systems Corp., one of 22 firms authorized by HUD to develop new designs and materials for mass housing.

Girl Scout Aiding Handicapped in Texas

Miss Phyllis Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Barnes, 3029 Dale Ave., is one of the 34 girls chosen from more than 350 applicants to participate in Circle H, a national Girl Scout event, which starts today and continues through Aug. 18, at Amarillo, Tex.

The project is planned to aid handicapped girls and is sponsored by the Amarillo Girl Scout Council in cooperation with the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Amarillo.

Miss Barnes is a member of Senior Troop 1177 of the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council. She was selected to attend the event for her experience with the handicapped, her training, and leadership ability and a desire to serve.

The young woman has worked with Junior Troop 245 the past year and she recently completed six weeks at established camp at Camp Ouatoga at Pere Marquette State Park. Miss Barnes was graduated this summer from Granite City High School.

Circle H, a program designed to provide Girl Scouts with an opportunity for service, also offers participants a chance to test their stated vocational interest in working with the handicapped through careers in nursing, physical therapy or occupational therapy.

Girl Scouts and Girl Guides chosen to take part in the program come from 34 cities and towns in 18 different states and from two foreign countries — Australia and New Zealand. Miss Barnes is the only Illinois girl attending the event.

They will spend this week in Amarillo undergoing intensive training at Amarillo Medical Center. Cooperating groups include the Kilgore Children's Rehabilitation Center, Kilgore Children's Psychiatric Hospital, the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, Amarillo State Center for Human Development, Greater Amarillo Chapter of the American Red Cross and Amarillo Regional Mental Health and Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

After receiving the Girl Scout Aide to Handicapped Persons Bar at the end of the first week, the scouts will spend the second week staffing Circle H Day Camp. Circle H, which is underwritten by the Downtown Kiwanis Club, offers an outdoor camping experience to 34 handicapped girls at Pitcher Pump Ranch, a Girl Scout Day Camp site, near Amarillo.

During their stay in the Texas Panhandle region, the senior scouts will live at Camp Kiwanis, where swimming, horseback riding and other activities will be available during free-time hours. They will become acquainted with the history and culture of Texas during excursions to Palo Duro Canyon to see the Paul Green production "Texas"; a Boys' Ranch; a working cattle ranch; livestock auction and area museums.

An idea whose time has come

An automatic timer to turn on a lamp in your living room when you're away is still a good idea.

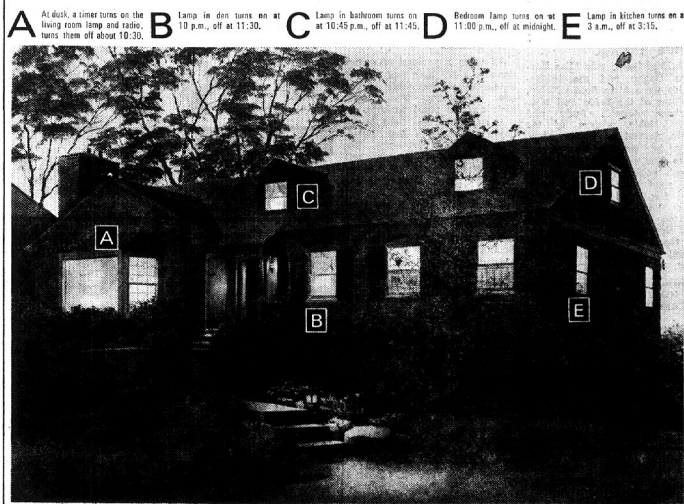

But today, a single lamp on a timer probably won't fool a would-be burglar into thinking you're home when you're not.

So use a few more timers and a little strategy. The plan suggested below will add to the security of your home whenever you're away. And it takes little more electricity than one lamp turned on at night.

For year 'round security, install an outdoor post lantern with an automatic electric eye. If you'd like more ideas on home lighting for security, beauty or function, just ask at our office.

Miss Sherrie Lynn Born, Lawrence Madden Are Wed

The wedding of Miss Sherrie Lynn Born, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner E. Born, 218 Colgate Place, and Lawrence Madden, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Madden of Overbrook, Kans., was solemnized Saturday morning at the Third Baptist Church.

Ums of white summer flowers decorated the altar, with green ferns on each side, and white flowers festooned with white satin ribbon and greenery marking the pews provided the setting for the 11 o'clock ceremony.

David T. Richardson sang "Because." "The Wedding Prayer" and the Lord's Prayer preceding the service performed by the Rev. Carl Watkins. Miss Ruth Ann Showers presided at the organ.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite gown of candlelight silk peau de soie designed in Victorian style.

Long tapered sleeves ending at the wrists with ruffled cuffs of delicate lace, enhanced with tiny satin bows, were set in the fitted bodice, featuring an Empire waist and high lace collar. Swirls of tiny seed pearls traced the accent lace at the neckline and cuffs.

The gown was fashioned with a slightly full, formal length skirt and her train was secured at the shoulders, sweeping downward to cathedral length.

She wore a long madonna veil lavishly appliqued with ivory Alencon flowers and scalloped at the edge. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white roses and lily.

Members of the wedding party included Mrs. Bruce Perry, the groom's sister, matron of honor, and Miss Cynthia Decker, a niece of the bride. Miss Pat Johnson and Miss Pam Grakaloff, bridesmaids, Jennifer and Christopher Short were the flower girl and ring bearer.

Bruce Perry, a brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman were Bruce Van Bailey Bleigh and Jack Jenkins. Ardiel Blind and Dale Knevezich seated the guests.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids chose gowns of similar style in violet and orchid. They were made with Victorian collars, long puffed sleeves, fitted bodices and high rise waists.

Wicker basket floral print in deep tones of purple and orchid was used to fashion the bodices, giving the frocks a vested look. The softly flowing skirts were created of violet chiffon.

Each girl wore a tailored bow with long streamers to hold in place a fingertip veil of orchid silk illusion and their flowers were colonial bouquets of orange, orchid, purple, white and green pom poms.

The little flower girl was gowned in a similar style dress and she carried a miniature bouquet, a replica of the maids' flowers.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Madden received guests at a luncheon reception given at Sunset Hills Country Club immediately following the service.

Miss Alicia Hendrickson attended the guest book at both the church and reception. Miss Carolyn Jenkins provided the dinner music during the reception.

Mrs. Born chose for her daughter's wedding, a long gown in archaic and modern design with a softly gathered bodice, the dress had long tapered sleeves and was accented with a gathered fabric belt, enhanced with a pin at the center front.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Madden, was attired in a floor-length frock of Chantilly lace in mint green. Short sleeves were set in the Empire bodice made with a scoop neckline and the princess line skirt was enhanced with a wide belt of beads and sequins.

Both mothers wore white orchids trimmed with satin ribbons to complement their costumes. After a wedding trip, the couple will reside at Maryland Manor Garden Apartments.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School and William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. She presently is teaching at Sacred Heart Parochial School.

Freddy Martin Still Makes His Sax Sing

By ANDY CRAWFORD
Copley News Service

Hollywood—Although Charlie Chaplin admittedly found a few familiar things upon his return to Hollywood after a 20-year absence, there was at least one scene that must have seemed almost indelible.

For on the bandstand at the Academy Awards Ball were Freddy Martin and his orchestra. Martin was playing what has been called his "singing saxophone" in his suave, almost effortless manner. The same sophisticated melodic style that had made his bands a fixture in Southern California for nearly 40 years was still apparent.

"We played a lot of show tunes, 'oldies,' and, of course, our arrangements of the classics for the Academy," Martin recalled with a modest pride. "However, the band and I all had a special thrill of a lifetime when we played Charlie's own song, 'Smile.'"

Needless to say, Chaplin also was quite pleased by the special production of his sentimental composition.

Freddy Martin has been a unique among the big band leaders of the '30s. Not only has he been successful through the years (he just finished a 30-year stint at the Coconut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel in Hollywood), but he's done it his way.

He's always liked instrumental, and even leans toward a concertized approach to dance music. An incident occurred in 1941 that proved the public also liked his special treatment of the latter.

Martin was inspired after hearing Tchaikovsky's "Piano Concerto in B-flat Minor," played over the radio by Vladimir Horowitz, with Toscanini and the NBC Symphony.

Thirty-six hours later he had arranged and recorded a 32-bar dance version of the Tchaikovsky work.

Within several months, it became the country's No. 1 record, and, to date, has sold over three million copies.

Martin later renamed the song "Tonight, We Love," adopted it as his theme song, and decided to delve deeper into the classical repertoire for other melodies. Some have become popular standards.

Among them are the Grieg Piano Concerto, which he called "I Look At Heaven," Richard Addinsell's "Warsaw Concerto," and then "Intermezzo."

A few people, of course, have rapped Martin for tampering with the masters, but many thousands more have lauded him for introducing a large portion of the population to serious music.

Pianist gained considerable recognition playing these arrangements. Among them were Jack Fina, Murray Arnold, and pianist-composer Barclay Allen. Two of his earlier musicians that went to lead their own bands were trombonist Russ Morgan and pianist Claude Thornhill.

The two most famous alumni singers were the late Buddy Clark and Merv Griffin, now host of a talk show on television. Griffin, of course, weighed a bouncy 250 pounds when discovered in San Francisco in 1949.

"First thing I told him," Martin said, "is that he'd have to lose a lot of weight. He always did have that clean-cut, boyish look, with a lot of effervescence. He also could sing so well that we thought he'd turn out to be the next Bing Crosby."

Martin chuckled when recalling the incident.

"Merv did everything we asked him over the next four and a half years. He lost 75 pounds, played the piano fairly well, and had a great rapport with the audience."

"However," he continued, "it was something else when it came to giving Crosby any competition!"

How does Martin satisfy the appetite of the young when he's playing one-night stands, away from the hotels?

"We hire a 'rock' group to relieve us several times a night," he said. "The parents want our kind of music, and the kids don't know it. If we tried to change our style, and be all things to all ages, we'd end up not pleasing anyone."

When considering the fact that Martin just sold rereleases of six old versions of the classics to a major record company, he feels he knows his audience.

He became even more sure when the company guaranteed him royalties on at least half a million sales on each record.

Dermatologist Suggests Close Skin Cancer Watch

By JEANNE VAP
Copley News Service

As days grow longer and the sun climbs higher in the sky, Vanina says, "Browning of America!" Little, bronzed bodies stretched on the sand rippling the water . . . lathering on grease . . .

But "Beware of noon in June!" as some dermatologists put it. There is more to overexposure than redness and blisters.

"Sunshine, like any form of radiation, is cumulative. It builds up through the years," says dermatologist Dr. Robert C. Vanina.

And the results can be as unhealthy as they are unattractive: brown patches, scaly patches, warty patches, wrinkles, skin cancers . . .

"While skin cancer is the least fatal form of cancer, it is also the most common," Vanina reported.

Temporary protection To the skin doctor, that glorious golden tan is simply a "temporary protective mechanism."

"The skin actually thickens and darkens as a brown pigment is produced by the bottom layer of the epidermis (outer skin) in order to protect the nerves and blood vessels of the dermis from radiation."

"The trouble is, with most people, the tan doesn't protect the dermis enough. The elastic tissues degenerate—and leathery wrinkles result."

"The darker the skin is to start with, the less likely a person is to have degenerative changes because of exposure to the sun," reported the dermatologist. "Studies show that there is always a prevalence of skin cancer where fair-skinned people have migrated to more tropical climates—like Australia, the southwestern United States and California."

"Of course, some people are so sensitive to light, they would have to spend their lives in a tunnel to avoid any degenerative skin effects," said Vanina.

Others simply have to make the choice—"between wrinkles in your 40s and 50s and the outdoor life."

"Unless you are diligent enough to keep putting sunscreen on, it is hard to keep from being overexposed to the sun," he said. "Every day I see patients who say, 'I never go out in the sun.' But the skin on their neck and face and lower arms is very different to that on the rest of their bodies."

A large part of Vanina's practice is devoted to treating the results of damage by the sun. Although the dangers of overexposure have been common public knowledge for the last five to 10 years, fashion magazines and billboards still advertise suntans as the ultimate status symbol. A white strap mark is something to complain about—and to show off.

"Suntan probably became fashionable in the '30s," the skin doctor suggested. "But asking why is like asking why did everyone suddenly go on an outdoors kick."

At the turn of the century, people liked women to be very white. So they wore gloves, parasols, long sleeves . . . A tan was called sailor's skin or farmer's skin.

Vanina recommended any of the sun lotions which include para-nitro benzoic acid derivatives as the most effective sunscreens from radiation. Old-fashioned remedies, like cocoa butter and olive oil, do not offer this protection. And greasy lotions and creams are more beneficial than those with an alcohol base, because they don't come off as easily in the swimming pool."

Chronic problems caused by sun exposure appear year-round, but Vanina sees a larger number of patients suffering from sun allergies during the summer months. "The allergies could look like severe sunburn, or scaly rash, or oozing sores which might be mistaken for infection. There are also certain diseases, such as lupus erythematosus, which are aggravated by sunbathing."

"If you want to look your best in middle age, you should probably stay out of the sun completely," he said.

MANY SPECTATORS were still being attracted early today to the scene of last night's fatal plane crash on a Horseshoe Lake road near State Route

Page 24 Mon., Aug. 7, 1972 Granite City PRESS-RECORD

KAREN REISINGER

Karen Reisinger, 15, Shows at Olympic Meet

Karen Reisinger of Granite City, one of the Midwest's top girl swimmers, finished 13th in the 800 meter free style event in the U. S. Olympic trials during the weekend in Chicago. She missed making the finals in the event by six seconds, but her time of 9:18 was 10 seconds faster than her previous mark. The ranking also was the highest that she has achieved in any national meet. The local athlete, 15, had been seeded 30th in a field of 31 girls, but she felt she was prepared for the event.

She also swam in the 200 fly competition Sunday, placing about 20th.

World records were set "all over the place" during the trials, according to local observers.

The Reisinger girl will close out the current season at a regional meet at Wichita, Kan., where she again will compete in the 800 meter event.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reisinger, 2242 State St. The parents attended the trials.

162. The crash area has been roped off to protect the aircraft until it can be inspected by federal aviation authorities.

News Notes

Daley to Give Full Support To McGovern-Shriver Ticket

With Robert Sargent Shriver selected Saturday as the new choice for the Democratic vice-presidential race, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago has pledged "full and unqualified" support of the national ticket.

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, a Democratic presidential nominee, will recommend Shriver to the Democratic National Committee at a meeting tomorrow in Washington. Senator Thomas Eagleton of Missouri withdrew last week as the vice-presidential nominee at McGovern's request.

Shriver, 56, who maintains homes in the Chicago, Washington and Cape Cod areas, is a practicing attorney.

A brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy, he served under Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon as first director of the Peace Corps, first director of the Economic Opportunity Commission and ambassador to France.

Shriver is a former president of the Chicago board of education. He formerly directed the Merchandise Mart in that city for the Kennedy family.

The Illinois Democratic Caucus on Saturday elected a "balanced slate" of six persons to the Democratic National Committee. Named were John Karns, Belleville; Peggy Gordon, Glenwood; Penny Stevens, Decatur; State Senator Cecil Partee, Chicago; John Ridenour, DuQuoin; and Jane Byrne, Chicago.

Henry D. Karandjoff, board chairman of the Trust and Savings Bank and the American National Bank, has been appointed as first chairman of the Council Administration Committee for Area Three of the new North Central Region of the Boy Scouts of America. The initial meeting of Area Three committee chairman will take place Aug. 11 in Kansas City, Mo.

Endorsement of Illinois Attorney General Scott by two labor groups was announced during the weekend.

United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of Plumbing and Pipefitting, Local 533, and the National Labor Journal, an official newspaper of the National Federation of Independent Unions, have joined the list of labor organizations backing Scott for re-election.

To help feed those attending the Sunday, Aug. 13, rally here for Dan Walker, Democratic candidate for governor, Van Dee Cruse of Granite City plans to start roasting a steer a day ahead of time.

Cruse said he will start cooking the steer Saturday over a spit near the site of the rally, the Croation Hall in Madison.

The rally, featuring an old-fashioned, Texas-style barbecue, will begin at noon Sunday.

"We'll turn the spit by hand and slice meat off the steer as it gets done," Cruse said. He is one of the organizers of the rally, which will be attended by Walker. Cruse is a former Granite City alderman and assessor.

Tickets for the rally and barbecue are $1.50 a plate. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided. Tickets are available from Walker volunteer workers.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced Friday his veto of a bill allowing political party committees to name Nov. 7 judicial candidates. The veto blocks filling of 42 court vacancies. Ogilvie cited the 1970 Illinois Constitution, which does not provide for such nominations by party conventions.

The international executive board of the United Steelworkers voted late Thursday against aiding either the Nixon or McGovern Presidential tickets.

The Illinois AFL-CIO on Thursday endorsed all state Democratic nominees. It remained neutral on the national tickets.

Despite the fact that vocalist Nancy Wilson was substituting for the ailing Ella Fitzgerald, Friday night's Mississippi River Festival concert attracted 3,400 persons.

With St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concert during the weekend also well attended, the 1972 MRF season in 19 performances has reached about the 100,000 mark in attendance, with nine big dates—two symphonic and seven pop-rock-folk music concerts—still remaining.

Grand total for season attendance was 86,384 in 1969, rising to 118,440 in 1970 and 139,400 in 1971. This year's pace indicates a new season record will be set.

On the vote of Appellate Judges George J. Moran and Edward C. Eberspacher, with Judge Charles E. Jones dissenting, a Madison County Circuit Court ruling—dismissing Mrs. Ruby Hale's suit seeking to end water fluoridation—has been reversed. The Alton resident had filed the stop-fluoridation suit in August, 1968 and it was dismissed by Judge J. H. Streper.

David E. Leigh, head of the Lambert Airport authority, on Friday denied that the St. Louis city airport authority has a "short-changed" Lambert in acquiring property and carrying out improvements. Charges by Joseph Badaracco, St. Louis alderman, board president, are "obvious lies," Leigh said.

Badaracco once was an active backer of the proposed Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., development by St. Louis and Illinois; he switched his stand after filing for the Missouri Republican lieutenant governor nomination.

Fifteen horses were killed by a stable fire early today at Fairmount race track.

MORE ABOUT Plane Crash

Association, who also is a private pilot, was on the scene and reported that from the small amount of gasoline he saw, he thinks the airplane may have run out of gasoline in the air, causing the crash.

Federal Aviation Administration inspectors were at the crash site this morning attempting to determine the cause.

State troopers roped off the crash area overnight to keep spectators from damaging any parts of the airplane that might help determine why the crash occurred.

Found in the airplane with Dr. Carr was a suitcase containing his clothing and $1,307 cash.

Dr. Carr's body was taken to a Belleville funeral home, where friends may call after 2 p.m. Tuesday. A Requiem Mass will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Church in Belleville. Burial will be at Mount Carmel Cemetery, Belleville.

MORE ABOUT $690,000 Fire

pumped through the rods to the fire.

A total of 5,000 gallons of water was poured into the silo which firemen believe destroyed all 460,000 bushels of grain. Company officials in Decatur said that according to their report, the fire had caused only minor damage.

The grain elevator, which is leased from Miles Laboratories, Inc., was not damaged.

Firefighters were on the scene until 7 p.m. and were recalled at 9 p.m. after the fire rekindled. At midnight they returned to the fire station.
